4 Information Security Policy Framework (ISPF)
Information is critical to Wycliffe Hall operations and failure to protect information increases the risk of financial and reputational losses. Wycliffe Hall is committed to protecting information, in all its forms, from loss of confidentiality, integrity and availability ensuring that:
- all staff complete information security awareness training;
- information security risk is adequately managed and risk assessments on IT systems and business processes are performed where appropriate;

- appropriate information security controls are implemented to protect all IT facilities, technologies and services used to access, process and store Wycliffe Hall information;
- all information security incidents are reported in a timely manner via appropriate management channels, information systems are isolated, and incidents properly investigated and managed;

To provide the foundation of a pragmatic information security framework, Wycliffe Hall will implement a set of minimum information security controls, known as the baseline, either as published by the University's Information Security team or of equivalent strength. Where research, regulatory or national requirements exceed this baseline, controls will be increased at necessary service or project level. Where it is not possible or practicable to meet the baseline, exceptions will be documented to justify the deviation and appropriate compensating controls will be put in place.
